Study Confirms Effectiveness of Eating Disorder Treatment!

Eating disorders are treatment resistant diseases that benefit from a specialized treatment approach. An outcome study completed in 1999 on Remuda Programs confirms positive results in 84% of respondents. (Data available from Remuda Ranch.)

Let us support your treatment team!

Remuda's programs have been successfully treating women and adolescent girls with eating disorders for over ten years. We are accredited by JCAHO. Remuda treats the whole person with individualized programs blending medical, psychological, and nutritional components within a non-denominational, Christian perspective. We offer a full continuum of care at unique, non-traditional treatment settings.

Professionals feel confident sending their clients to Remuda because of the effectiveness of our treatment. Remuda's highly trained personnel will work with you during the referral process and during the transition as she leaves treament.
